-- Says Professional Staff Will Provide High Quality Support and Capability --

Washington, DC – Congresswoman Jane Harman (CA-36), Ranking Member on the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, today announced the addition of four professional staff members to the Committee’s Minority staff.

“I am very pleased that we are able to continue to select the best of the best from a pool of highly qualified applicants,” said Harman. “These highly motivated professionals bring excellent skills and diversity to the Intelligence Committee and will enable us to perform our oversight role better.”

The new professional staff members are:

- Chuck Gault, a senior intelligence executive at the National Security Agency, will become the Deputy Staff Director for the Minority. A retired Army lieutenant colonel, Gault brings major acquisition management, congressional liaison, and program management experience.
- Christine York joins the staff from the Office of the Assistant to the Secretary of Defense for Intelligence Oversight. A former U.S. Army counterintelligence professional, York previously worked at the Office of Intelligence Review at the Defense Department Inspector General’s office.
- Pamela Moore joins the staff following years in tactical, operational and strategic environments including the US Pacific Command’s Intelligence Liaison to Washington, DC. Moore also served over eight years with US Army Intelligence and is a Russian linguist.
- Larry Hanauer comes from Booz Allen Hamilton, where he consulted on a range of intelligence issues for CIA, DIA, NGA and DHS. Previously, Hanauer spent eight years in the Office of the Secretary of Defense, where he served as an advisor on U.S. security policy in the Middle East, eastern Europe, and Africa. In 2002, he spent a year on Capitol Hill as a Legislative Fellow.

Harman added, “Our Membership is hands-on, and will be well served by this dynamic team of seasoned professionals.”
