DIVISION B—RESTORING CHECKS AND BALANCES, ACCOUNTABILITY, AND TRANSPARENCY

TITLE IV—ENFORCEMENT OF CONGRESSIONAL SUBPOENAS

SEC. 401. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the “Congressional Subpoena Compliance and Enforcement Act”.

SEC. 402. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds as follows:

(1) As the Supreme Court has repeatedly affirmed, including in its July 9, 2020 holding in
Trump v. Mazars, Congress’s “power of inquiry—with process to enforce it—is an essential and appropriate auxiliary to the legislative function”.

Congress’s power to obtain information, including through the issuance of subpoenas and the enforcement of such subpoenas, is “broad and indispensable”.

(2) Congress “suffers a concrete and particularized injury when denied the opportunity to obtain information necessary” to the exercise of its constitutional functions, as the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit correctly recognized in its August 7, 2020 en banc decision in Committee on the Judiciary of the U.S. House of Representatives v. McGahn.

(3) Accordingly, the Constitution secures to each House of Congress an inherent right to enforce its subpoenas in court. Explicit statutory authorization is not required to secure such a right of action, and the contrary holding by a divided panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in McGahn, entered on August 31, 2020, was in error.
SEC. 403. ENFORCEMENT OF CONGRESSIONAL SUBPOENAS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 85 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by inserting after section 1365 the following:

§ 1365a. Congressional actions against subpoena recipients

“(b) SPECIAL RULES.—In any civil action described in subsection (a), the following rules shall apply:

“(1) The action may be filed in a United States district court of competent jurisdiction.

“(2) Notwithstanding section 1657(a), it shall be the duty of every court of the United States to expedite to the greatest possible extent the disposition of any such action and appeal. Upon a showing by the plaintiff of undue delay, other irreparable harm, or good cause, a court to which an appeal of the action may be taken shall issue any necessary and appropriate writs and orders to ensure compliance with this paragraph.
“(3) If a three-judge court is expressly requested by the plaintiff in the initial pleading, the action shall be heard by a three-judge court convened pursuant to section 2284, and shall be reviewable only by appeal directly to the Supreme Court of the United States. Such appeal shall be taken by the filing of a notice of appeal within 10 days, and the filing of a jurisdictional statement within 30 days, of the entry of the final decision.

“(c) Penalties.—

If such defendant if is an officer or employee of a Government agency, such fees may be paid from funds appropriated to pay the salary of the defendant.

“(d) WAIVER.—Any ground for noncompliance asserted by the recipient of a congressional subpoena shall be deemed to have been waived as to any particular information withheld from production if the court finds that the recipient failed in a timely manner to comply with the requirements of section 105(b) of the Revised Statutes of the United States with respect to such information.

“(e) RULES OF PROCEDURE.—The Supreme Court and the Judicial Conference of the United States shall prescribe rules of procedure to ensure the expeditious treatment of actions described in subsection (a). Such rules shall be prescribed and submitted to the Congress pursuant to sections 2072, 2073, and 2074. This shall include procedures for expeditiously considering any assertion of constitutional or Federal statutory privilege made in connection with testimony by any recipient of a subpoena from a congressional committee or subcommittee. The Supreme Court shall transmit such rules to Congress within 6 months after the effective date of this section and then pursuant to section 2074 thereafter.

“(f) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘Government agency’ means any office or entity described in section 105 and 106 of title 3, an executive department listed in section 101 of title 5, an independent establishment, commission, board, bureau, division, or office in the executive branch, or other agency or instrumentality of the Federal Government, including wholly or partly owned Government corporations.”.

“(A) An express assertion and description of the ground asserted for withholding the information.

“(B) The type of information.

“(C) The general subject matter.

“(D) The date, author, and addressee.

“(F) The custodian of the information.

“(G) Any other descriptive information that may be produced or disclosed regarding the information that will enable the congressional committee or subcommittee issuing the subpoena to assess the ground asserted for withholding the information.

“(c) Definition.—For purposes of this section the term ‘information’ includes any books, papers, documents, data, or other objects requested in a subpoena issued by a congressional committee or subcommittee.”; and

(2) in section 104, by striking the period at the end and inserting the following:

(2) not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act for an opinion issued on or after January 20, 1993;

(b) Exceptions and Limitation on Public Availability of Final OLC Opinions.—

(1) In general.—A final OLC opinion or part thereof may be withheld only to the extent—

(B) information contained in the opinion relates to the appointment of a specific individual not confirmed to Federal office;

(C) information contained in the opinion is specifically exempted from disclosure by statute (other than sections 552 and 552b of title 5, United States Code), if such statute—

(i) requires that the material be withheld in such a manner as to leave no discretion on the issue; or

(ii) establishes particular criteria for withholding or refers to particular types of material to be withheld;
(D) information in the opinion includes trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential whose disclosure would likely cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the person from whom the information was obtained;

(E) the President, in his or her sole and nondelegable determination, formally and personally claims in writing that executive privilege prevents the release of the information and disclosure would cause specific identifiable harm to an interest protected by an exception or the disclosure is prohibited by law; or

(F) information in the opinion includes personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

(2) Determination to Withhold.—Any determination under this subsection to withhold information contained in a final OLC opinion shall be made by the Attorney General or a designee of the Attorney General. The determination shall be—

(3) FINAL OPINIONS.—For final OLC opinions for which the text is withheld in full or in substantial part, a detailed unclassified summary of the opinion shall be made available to the public, in the same timeframe as required of the final OLC opinion, that conveys the essence of the opinion, including any interpretations of a statute, the Constitution, or other legal authority. A notation shall be included in any published list of OLC opinions regarding the extent of the withholdings.

(4) NO LIMITATION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as limiting the availability of information under section 552 of title 5, United States Code or construed as an exemption under paragraph (3) of subsection (b) of such section.
(5) NO LIMITATION ON RELIEF.—A decision by the Attorney General to release or withhold information pursuant to this title shall not preclude any action or relief conferred by statutory or regulatory regime that empowers any person to request or demand the release of information.

(6) REASONABLY SEGREGABLE PORTIONS OF OPINIONS TO BE PUBLISHED.—Any reasonably segregable portion of an opinion shall be provided after withholding of the portions which are exempt under this section. The amount of information withheld, and the exemption under which the withholding is made, shall be indicated on the released portion of the opinion, unless including that indication would harm an interest protected by the exemption in this paragraph under which the withholding is made. If technically feasible, the amount of the information withheld, and the exemption under which the withholding is made, shall be indicated at the place in the opinion where such withholding is made.

(c) METHOD OF PUBLICATION.—The Attorney General shall publish each final OLC opinion to the extent the law permits, including by publishing the opinions on a publicly accessible website that—

(1) with respect to each opinion—
(A) contains an electronic copy of the opinion, including any transmittal letter associated with the opinion, in an open format that is platform independent and that is available to the public without restrictions;
